We All Hate Receipts - Well Nearly All...

How many people do you know who complain, often bitterly, about having to "do the VAT" or "submit expenses" to their company or their accountant?

'Why must we do the VAT man's job for him?'

- I often hear you cry.

A Hateful Chore

Asking around there is a tiny, very select, breed who actually seem to enjoy this stuff. The rest of us would rather be doing something more productive or relaxing.

For many small business people from plumbers to solicitors and business consultants it's a hateful chore that gets left to the last possible moment and then consumes a Saturday afternoon when we'd rather be kicking a ball around in the park with the kids or a Friday evening when we'd rather be unwinding in front of a glass of something suitably medicinal.

There Is No Alternative?

But there's no choice. We have to keep all those bills and receipts safely filed until month's end (or frantically find them as the deadline looms) and then either drive the whole sorry mess to the accountants ('How much will that cost?') or give up an evening to fuming and frustration.

The New Alternative

Now there is a choice. It's called ReceiptAngel.co.uk

You just feed your receipts and bills in as they come to hand and it does the rest! An email arrives at month's end with a spreadsheet itemised, neatly totalled and 'accountant ready' with the VAT for reclaim. It even reminds you (daily or weekly, you choose) to feed them in.

How Does it Work?

ReceiptAngel.co.uk recommend a handy (hand-held) scanner (very useful for scanning business cards and documents too. It's small enough to carry in your laptop bag if you're on the road). Feed in receipts as they come to hand - ReceiptAngel.co.uk pops up, grabs them for you and spirits them off to your own secure area 'in the cloud'. Visit www.ReceiptAngel.co.uk/scanner for details.

At the end of the month you get an email from ReceiptAngel.co.uk with links to download the neatly sorted receipt images (which are accepted by the VAT man and HMRC as if they were the originals) and importantly everything you need for your accountant, or to fill in your VAT form. Angel also emails the summary straight to your accountant if you wish and will even fill in your VAT return or expenses form if you scan that too!

You can log in any time and see what's in your secure cloud store (so can your PA if you have one, very useful when you're out and about).
